What is

CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrup, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Cud, cures Diarrhoea and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency, Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. I have used it for years and it has never failed me. I can recommend it to all mothers who have children."—J. C. O'Connell, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their lives. I have known a regular Castoria user, who was a healthy child, become ill from the use of a quack medicine, and I have known a child who was a healthy child, become ill from the use of a quack medicine, and I have known a child who was a healthy child, become ill from the use of a quack medicine."—J. F. Kitchener, Quincy, Mass.

Castoria.

"Castoria is the best adapted to children that I have ever used. I can recommend it to all mothers who have children."—J. A. Archer, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of this medicine, and although we only have a small stock, we are sure to have it. It is a good medicine, and we are sure to have it. It is a good medicine, and we are sure to have it."—J. F. Kitchener, Quincy, Mass.

The Castoria Company, 71 Murray Street, New York City.

Correspondence and letters of news are solicited from all readers of the Gazette.

While we have an efficient corps of regular contributors, there is much of interest that the nature of things, they cannot get. Let your letter to your local paper and you will find it to be all in making the Gazette more bright and lively.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1892.

Henry A. Thomas will be the candidate for Congress in 1894. This will be Morse's last term in all probability.

Don't forget to put a big X against the name of Elijah A. M. Thomas in the Congressional list.

A careful review of Columbus Day celebrations in the various towns through the State has been made.

Our friend Mr. Miller, the editor of the Hingham Journal, has the honor of being selected by the Hingham Association to be its candidate for the General Court.

Governor Russell's popularity in Boston and Cambridge is well known to the people of this State.

Mr. T. V. Powderly announces through the pages of the North American that he wants a new party.

Thompson's Bank Note Detector for 1892 published a list of 728 forged, altered and worthless banks in the United States.

The methods taken by the faculty of Amherst college in their attempt to mould the political views of the students.

Isn't it something quite remarkable that a young man of thirty-five should have been for two years a member of the Massachusetts legislature?

A leading Boston paper says, the recent election in the House of Representatives.

Neither have I anything but contempt for the ostentatious race of the new convert, who, after having for years enjoyed the lower and the lower of the lower.

Helen Gougar is reported to have said in one of her lectures at the University of Minnesota.

Our campaign as a whole, this far, has been remarkably successful.

Figure as you may, New York is the most powerful State in the Union.

It is perhaps to be regretted that the managers of the Republican party's campaign in this State have left the management of the vote.

The political history of the town is often an interesting study as of that of the State.

Sleepers and Rails in North Westmouth.

This week there has come a rift in the clouds of North Westmouth.

In sections where the fences are only ten feet apart, and not a hindrance to stock, some system by which they may be made good at slight expense will be a great benefit.

A plan suggested and described by a Connecticut farmer in The New England Homestead.

The number of frames made like the one shown in the engraving, having the rails ends one on top of another, be made.

A GREAT ELEPHANT-CATCHER.

Career of the Man Who Hugged One Hundred and Twenty at One Stroke.

The late Mr. Sanderson's name has been for a quarter of a century familiar to every Indian "shikar".

Yet, though the great part of his life has been spent in the chase, he has not fallen away from his life, it was not a slayer of wild beasts so much as a collector of the great game.

Consolidated September 27, 1890. PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY BY THE WEYMOUTH GAZETTE CO. (INCORPORATED) P. O. ADDRESS, WEYMOUTH, MASS.

TERMS: $5.00 per Year. $2.50 in advance. Advertisements inserted at the usual rates. Managers and Editors: M. E. HAYES, A. W. BLANCHARD.

Correspondence and items of news are solicited from all readers of the Gazette. Every one knows of some interesting fact or happening that others would like to read about.

While we have no objection to the publication of letters, we are not interested in the nature of things, they cannot get in your own hands and you will find them in the Gazette more bright and new.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 11, 1892. Weymouth cast a large vote.

What's the matter with Russell? A tidal wave struck the country Tuesday.

Now look for a lot of democrats in new hats. Weymouth got one representative and Quincy two, as usual.

Major McKinley does not loom up as a presidential candidate any more.

Weymouth gave a plurality of 31 for Harrison and also rolled up one of 108 for Russell.

The vote for third, fourth and fifth parties was unusually light all along the line. It was confined in the main to local friendships.

Meas. Worthen of Weymouth and Graham and Hammond of Quincy are the successful men who will represent this district in the next legislature.

Our government is conservative in character. Notwithstanding the political revolution of Tuesday, it will be many months before any change can be made in the policy of the government.

Attention is called to the postponed hearing on the petition of the Quincy and Boston Street Railway Co. for additional location, which hearing will be held on the afternoon of the 28th instant of the 14th.

The republican leaders are astounded and can't account for the landslide. It's easy enough to account for. Mr. McKinley's tariff bill, and Mr. Lodge's bill have two issues that could not be successfully defended.

It is more than apparent that the Australian ballot was far from being understood by many who used it election day. The first thing on it was blinding and misleading, if one cross would elect five republican electors, why not one cross elect two or three, as the case might be, for some other office? The wardens and inspectors, during the day, often heard mutterings from the booths like this: "I don't know what to do with the thing," or, "How many of these has a man got to check?"

The republican State committee think that a small plurality of about 2,000 on a vote of nearly 40,000 is too close to let go without a recount, and have accordingly issued petitions for a recount in every precinct in the state. The recount may not go, Russell more firmly or it may be slightly in favor of Mr. Hale.

The result will probably be affected. If Russell is undoubtedly elected and it is rather poor taste to question the fact now.

The election is over and the usual number of people have come to the front to say "I told you so," or "Just what I expected." Any one caught in the state made this time. However, the fact that the unexpected happened in many places. From the head of the great national ticket to the most minor vote, men have got left who were sure (?) of being elected and men are elected whose elections are not only surprising to themselves but to everyone else.

The secret ballot is a great thing to bring out strange results.

Why did not Massachusetts follow the general rule of the states to the arms of the Democracy? Because the republican papers and speakers in this state made much of the issue of free coinage and state banks and of the record of the democratic candidate for vice-president. These issues had great weight in Massachusetts, but in the west, which is rather friendly to all sorts of free money schemes, they could not be expected to have effect. Wherever the tariff has been the subject of debate, there the republicans have been in an unfortunate position. On the single issue of the tariff there is good reason to believe that the republicans would have recorded better with New York, Connecticut, New Jersey, Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan.

The scenes and incidents around the several polling places, on Tuesday, were of a very quiet nature. The republican campaign has gone by. The republican papers and speakers in this state made much of the issue of free coinage and state banks and of the record of the democratic candidate for vice-president. These issues had great weight in Massachusetts, but in the west, which is rather friendly to all sorts of free money schemes, they could not be expected to have effect. Wherever the tariff has been the subject of debate, there the republicans have been in an unfortunate position. On the single issue of the tariff there is good reason to believe that the republicans would have recorded better with New York, Connecticut, New Jersey, Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan.

At each and all of the precinct headquarters, the vote legends were posted early hours of the morning, and by 10 p.m. when the polls were closed.

While, as we have said, there was no excitement, it was an interesting pastime to some who watched the tide in the various vote boxes and counted the votes as they came in.

Weymouth polled the largest vote in its history, and as all of the conditions were favorable a very large per cent. of the registered voters came to the polling places and began to mark their ballots, but a look at the unusual number of blanks at the bottom of the list of representatives shows that the voter either got tired, full of interest in filling out his ticket, or sacrificed the nominee of his party for a less worthy reason than fatigue or lack of interest. It was last year more than repeated, especially in Precincts 3 and 5.

We can conceive of a man not caring very much who is governor or even president, because they are so far removed from him he has no personal likes or dislikes, but when it comes to a representative who is a man of his own town and neighborhood and who is to legislate on matters which immediately concern him, it is surprising that more than twelve per cent of those who vote should slaughter the representative.

Rebaked on the Turf. Four years ago the republican party won the election by promising tariff reform. It assented to the democratic clamor for a reduction of the tariff but asked that the tariff might be reduced by the friends of protection rather than by its enemies. It was on this distinct pledge that the republican party won and secured full control of the government, the House containing the first republican majority for many years. As the fulfillment of its pledge to reduce the tariff, the party enacted the McKinley bill, which while it is an improvement over the old schedule in the number of articles placed upon the free list, it cannot under the widest stretch of imagination be called a tariff reform measure. It is, in fact, the most distinctly protective tariff bill the country ever had. In 1890 the people showed their resentment of the failure of the republican party to carry out its pledges for tariff reform by treating that party to a total wave of defeat throughout the country. This might have been taken as a warning by the republican leaders and they might have modified their tactics. But, alas, a little. If they had done this, and admitted that the McKinley bill needed revision, that it was not satisfactory to the people and that they would revise it and lower the duties and increase the free list, the party might have been continued in power. But the leaders defiantly declared that the McKinley bill to be the greatest piece of tariff legislation the country had ever seen, that it was perfect, and that all that was necessary was to educate the people up to the result of defeating the people's verdict of 1890 is another overwhelming tidal wave and a tremendous defeat administered once again to the republican party. Can there now be any question that the people of these United States desire to have radical and important reductions made in the tariff?

Harvest Festival. The annual Harvest Festival of the Universalist church opened last Wednesday at the McKinley hall to the greatest piece of favorable circumstances. The different tables were arranged around the hall, while the fruit and flower table was in a small booth in the center.

Those who had charge of the arrangements deserve much credit for the manner in which they did their work in the little time they had.

The different tables were full of overflowing with useful and fancy articles. The tables were in charge of the following:

Ministers' table—Rev. Mr. Atwood, H. H. Joy and N. Chandler.

Accompanying—Miss Emily and Mrs. Mary Chandler, and Mrs. F. Thayer.

Cake table—Mrs. F. H. H. and Miss R. Thomas.

Candy table—Misses Willis, Bradford, Cushing and Baker.

Vegetable table—E. W. Thayer, C. H. Appleby, L. Blanchard, J. Sargent, H. Chandler.

Domestic table—Mrs. George Hayden, Mrs. Gustin, Misses Blanchard and Lafon.

Fruit table—Mrs. R. W. Hunt, Mrs. H. Chandler, Mrs. H. H. Joy and Miss E. Bag table—C. N. Tirrell, Misses Lindfield, Churchill and Mrs. G. Sargent.

Preserve table—Mrs. Reed, Mrs. Studard and Mrs. Holbrook.

Children's table—Misses Harris, Willis, Raymond, Lord.

Art room—Mrs. M. E. E. E. H. H. Belcher and Mrs. J. M. Whitcomb.

The art room was situated in one of the new rooms which has been built in the tower, the entrance to which is the gallery. The entertainment was given by the children of the society and was thoroughly enjoyed by the audience and called forth much applause as the little ones bowed themselves on the stage. The following is the programme:

people showed their resentment of the failure of the republican party to carry out its pledges for tariff reform by treating that party to a total wave of defeat throughout the country. This might have been taken as a warning by the republican leaders and they might have modified their tactics. But, alas, a little. If they had done this, and admitted that the McKinley bill needed revision, that it was not satisfactory to the people and that they would revise it and lower the duties and increase the free list, the party might have been continued in power. But the leaders defiantly declared that the McKinley bill to be the greatest piece of tariff legislation the country had ever seen, that it was perfect, and that all that was necessary was to educate the people up to the result of defeating the people's verdict of 1890 is another overwhelming tidal wave and a tremendous defeat administered once again to the republican party. Can there now be any question that the people of these United States desire to have radical and important reductions made in the tariff?

Harvest Festival. The annual Harvest Festival of the Universalist church opened last Wednesday at the McKinley hall to the greatest piece of favorable circumstances. The different tables were arranged around the hall, while the fruit and flower table was in a small booth in the center.

Those who had charge of the arrangements deserve much credit for the manner in which they did their work in the little time they had.

The different tables were full of overflowing with useful and fancy articles. The tables were in charge of the following:

—Mrs. Doolittle, of Boston, secretary of the King's Daughters, will give an address in the Congregational church Sunday evening, at the work of that order.

The republican head quarters were kept open nearly all night Tuesday, and the usual crowd of men, that congregate at such seasons in politics, were there waiting the latest returns from the elections.

An appetizing clam chowder was served late in the evening.

—Frank Wolfe has moved into Elsie Pratt's house on North street.

—Luther Pratt is to move that portion of his stable left unoccupied by the fire a short distance from its present location. He will make over and enlarge it, to let as a dwelling house.

—Mrs. William Bicknell is having a furnace placed in her cellar.

—Mr. Wilmet Cleverly has a present of a new harness from the Brockton people who have a cottage on Back River, and to which he will move his family.

—Mr. and Mrs. George Clark spent Sunday in Worcester with Mr. William Dustin.

—Gorham Walker and Sidney Dunbar with their wives were the guests of W. E. Beane on Sunday.

—F. H. Torrey's residence is being touched up with a coat of paint.

—Leon Johnson is keeping his horse and delivery wagon at Mrs. Samuel Pratt's stable.

—Our enterprising citizen, Mr. W. C. Cherrington, will move a small building, formerly a portion of the old shop at the foot of Cemetery hill, to his premises, where he will convert it into a carriage shed to be used in connection with his depot carriage route.

—Mrs. F. L. Kelley has been substituting as teacher in the primary school, the past two weeks for Miss Clara White, who has been unable to fulfill her duties on account of illness.

—A large congregation listened to the address on Social Purity, by Mrs. Hunt of Portland, in the Pilgrim church last Sunday. The pastors of both churches of the village took part in the services and the music was by the consolidated choir.

The speaker very eloquently set forth self evident truths, and gave some wholesome advice with respect to the bringing up of children and the patterns to be placed before them.

—Rufus P. Hawkes, who has been a highly respected citizen of this village for about fifteen years, passed away in his sixty-eighth year, on Thursday last week.

Born in Brunswick, Me., he was a yearling, worked at the trade of ship building, and went into business when he was twenty-six years old. Up till within a few years before the war, he was engaged in the mercantile business, but after the war he moved to Savannah, Ga., where he continued his profession but was subsequently burned out.

Mr. Hawkes, after the war, returned to his native state, coming to Duxbury, Mass. in 1870. Here he was employed as foreman, by N. P. Keene, for six years, until he made his home in Weymouth.

What Is The Matter?
Time a Halt Was Called Before We Go Farther.
Is Certainly Most Dangerous Ground We Are Treading.
Is Time We Looked the Matter
In the Face,
And Decided Just What We Had Better Do.

What is the matter?
Only too many people, like Senator Winbush, Senator Zach Chandler, Congressman Lay and Secretary Windham drop suddenly dead!
Why does it matter with thousands upon thousands of others, brain and nerve exhaustion from overwork, fret and worry and the cares and anxieties of the modern world, and the age in which we live, and which find us in the dread nervous, insanity, heart failure, nervous prostration and sudden death.
Only that when our brains are straining their brains and nervous systems in the mad race after fortune and fame, and exhausting their nervous and physical energies, and when the nervous, failing power, complete nervous exhaustion, or brain and nerve injury or death must be the inevitable end unless help from some source is re-

Thousands of women are overworked, exhausted, worn out in nerve force and brain until they are tired all the time. Clerks, stenists, mechanics and laborers, from close confinement, long hours, strain upon the nervous, dissipation or other causes, are losing all vitality, and becoming nervous and physical wrecks.

You, reader, are rushing on blindly to your destruction. You are warned every day and every hour by your impending doom. How? By those strange sensations that dull, dizzy and bad feeling head, that restlessness, irritability and nervousness, that loss of sleep, those sleepless nights, from which you wake tired and unrefreshed; by the weak, trembling, cold limbs, by the languor and sense of nervous strain and physical exhaustion which grow upon you and more, and more. These are danger signals, and not to heed them is the folly of a fool.

ANDREW H. OLNEY, ESQ.

What is to be done? The answer is plain enough. You are losing your nerve force and power, and running down in strength, energy and vitality. Whatever will restore this lost strength and vigor to the brain and nerves, will put you again precisely what Dr. Greene's Nervura does. As a restorer of nerve force, it is a tonic of the brain, vigor and energy. It is a wonderful nerve tonic, no equal in the world. You can have no idea until you try it of its marvellous forcing, strengthening and vigorizing effect on the brain and health. It acts as a brain and nerve restorative. It is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless, and can be purchased at any drugstore.

Read what it did for Andrew H. Olney, Esq. of Gibson, N. Y.

"I was broken down with nervous and indigestion," he says, "before using Dr. Greene's Nervura but now nerve remedy and sleep is a burden. Now life is a joy, and sleep is a luxury compared to the former state. I have lost my food, and my nervousness has left me, so has the numbness. I wish I could shout loud enough so all the world could hear me. I am now a new man. My medicine has done for me. It has made

Can you do better than to use it?

Especially as it is not a patent medicine, but the prescription and recovery of the Boston papers. Dr. Green's Nervina, 100 State Place, Boston, Mass., the most successful specialist in the cure of nervous and chronic diseases in this country. He can be consulted free, personally or by letter.

The Boston Herald beat all the other Boston papers in the fulsome and correctness of its election returns. The Herald is a great newspaper, as reliable as it is entertaining, and its news columns are to be trusted. It has no pretensions to originality, but made no claims, but simply published the facts and told what were the indications. Its tables were reliable and complete, and its columns were full of interesting and instructive material. It was a trustworthy and intelligent.

How Unpleasant
 It is to see a beautiful child's face disfigured with vile humors, bursting through the skin in pimples, bickers, and sores, as a miser stilt, when the young and innocent are lashed at and twisted in all directions by the cruel and unfeeling hands of those who should be their friends, but who are really Sanguin Bitters, which will search and drive out of the blood every particle of humor.—Health Gazette.

BOSTON THEATRES.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—The English, Irish, and Scotch melodrama, "The English, Irish, and Scotch Melodrama," which has been a success at the Boston Museum, will play a week's engagement at the Grand Opera House, beginning next Monday evening. The play is owned and controlled by the management of Proctor's twenty-third street theatre, New York, and it comes to Boston with a worthy and expensive cast and a large amount of new and elegant scenery. Henry Cranford, as well as favorably known by his great success in his father's famous play, "The English, Irish, and Scotch Melodrama," assumes the leading role, formerly taken by Mr. Jack Mason. Mr. Harry Merrill, the noted star in "Boulevard's" great play, "After Dark," is an important member of the company. Mr. Harry Hawk, the veteran comedian, more recently remembered by excellent acting in "The Sultan," at the Boston theatre two years ago, plays a strong comedy role, formerly acted by Mr. George Wilson. Mr. Harry Rogers, the dialect comedian, will also be seen in the play. Miss Kate Foy, a popular comedienne, plays Miss Miriam O'Leary's great part. Steve Gratton, a handsome young actor, assumes the role of the youthful hero. Mr. Charles Leonard Fletcher is also a member of the company and will play an important part, and the rest of the company are all accomplished. Two performances of "The English, Irish, and Scotch Melodrama" will be given Thanksgiving Day.

BOWDOIN SQUARE THEATRE.—The comedienne Helen and Hart, will play at Bowdoin Square theatre, Boston, next week for the first time in Boston their new piece, "The Idea." This piece has been tried and it is said to be a success. Helen and Hart are adroit and resourceful comedienne and it is fair to presume, judging from the honors of the past, that all of this is true. Their former piece, "Later On," was an agreeable compound of song, music and frolic of which Boston theatre-goers are fond. The new piece, "The Idea," is a comedy in two acts, written by John McWade and pretty little Fuller have two prominent parts in the piece. Besides them are Alice Carr, Fannie Bloodgood, Donald Harold, Al Wilson, Carrie DeMar, Emma Seymour, Adelaide Crawford, Mabel Nichols, Lulu Nichols, Florence Haddock, Harry Hilton, George O'Donnell and several others of individual merit. The Bowdoin will not doubt be a scene of merriment and thrills during this engagement. "The Dazzler," with winsome Annie Boyd, follows.

What is

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrup, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Cures, cures Diarrhoea and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children.

Do G. O. O'Brien, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are doing their level best to ruin the children's health, by forcing upon them the use of opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other harmful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

North Weymouth Gleanings.

—Mrs. J. H. Brown and daughter moved Saturday. They will reside for a short time at the home of Mr. Brown, who has been in the city for some time. Mr. Brown is employed at Brockton and his family moved to Brockton so that they may be near his place of business.

—The Social and Literary union met Wednesday evening. The subject presented was "Early Explorers."

—A Mr. White of South Boston has hired Mrs. Matilda Batten's house.

—The residents of Lovell street, witnessed, one day last week, a little performance. A well-known young lady of the village had agreed, that if the democrats should elect their candidate, she would give a certain young man, whose name is also familiar to the public, a ride in a wheelbarrow on the above named street.

A good audience was in attendance at Oddfellows' Opera House last Friday night to listen to the eloquent lecture of Mr. George W. Panniman on "Our Boys in Blue," and to enjoy the fine stereoscopic views of battle scenes and incidents connected with the war of emancipation.

—The Ladies' Cemetery Sewing Circle will meet at the residence of Mrs. Emerson on Tuesday evening, Nov. 22nd, at 8 o'clock.

—About 50 men from this part of the town, were in the parade at Weymouth Wednesday night. A number of the party were from the city.

—It has been the current opinion that the street railway company would commence to lay its tracks the first of the past week, but it is now said that the company is to petition the selectmen to allow them to put up their own poles for stringing the wires, but it is not certain whether the company will be granted them.

—The railroad men had expected to string their wires upon the telephone or electric light poles, but it is believed that such a large amount was demanded for their use that the idea has been abandoned.

—The large audience that was present at the opening lecture of the course was held at the lecture hall, who have worked so hard to have these lectures given as such undertakings are not apt to be profitable to the originators but are quite often a success.

—The Democrats and Independent voters of Ward 2 will have a celebration tonight. There will be a parade with fireworks and illuminations. The route of march will be from the city hall to the city hall.

—The large massing known as "Jack" and owned by Mr. Walter Shaden, was killed by an inward bound train one morning last week. The attendant circumstances of the death were as follows: The horse was in the street near the city hall when the train came.
